

Champa Devi Day Hiking Tour

Champa Devi means Goddess of Champa (a kind of flower); in fact there is a small temple on the top of this hiking point where some small idols, bells and trident are established and some occasion local people and devotees worship to Goddess and grant bliss to get success of their life. On the other hand it is being very nice picnic spot too, now a day every end of the week many students, families and young guys included hikers are attracted by that hiking route to get to top and then take a rest, view the attractive natural scenery around there and some beautiful hillocks with dense forest, Kathmandu valley with having pack lunch.

Now recently this Hill is being very popular for hiking for foreigner those who visit Nepal for trekking, climbing and travel packages. It is being training trail for trekker before beginning hard trekking. It makes them perfect or can guess they are able to trek or not, because this hiking point is 2200 meters high from sea level.

Champa Devi Day Hiking lies in the southern part of Kathmandu Valley in the distance of 18 Kilometers from City Center. This hiking takes 3 to 4 hours completely get to top of the Hill and walking down is 2 and half hours, because route is a bit change on the middle point of the hiking route.

To start hiking, Morning 0700 am drive from Kathmandu City Center or from your Hotel, it is about 25 minutes drive get to Shimalchaur from where walking starts to step up to Hattiban where one good luxurious hotel is established but we take rest near that hotel and first Tiffin break will be served. Then walk straight route a bit and walk down. Then you will be walking up to till top of the Hill. You will spend sometimes for having pack lunch, visit Temple, look around the many Hillocks, natural views, Himalayas, villages and rests.

After feeling some relaxes, slowly walk down to Taudah, this time we change the route on middle of the same route you go up. Taudah is a small lake and you can see there a unique type of Hill, according to historical story, it is said that that hill was made by the mud and rock of the Taudah means to dug out the Taudah or lake, the collections of mud and rocks piled and made a Hill.

You will be arrived in Taudah about 1600 pm and drive back to Kathmandu.

In whole, you will walk about 5/6 hours in hiking route and 1 hours driving to and from.

This is one day perfect hiking tour and which gives good exercise of your body, fresh air during the hiking and attractive views with Champa Devi Temple.
