

Pisang Peak Climbing

Pisang Peak Climbing is the most popular peak among the trekking peaks in Annapurna Region in Nepal. This peak is located on the way to Annapurna Circuit trek, when a bit route changed near from Pisang village. People those who have a little knowledge and experiences for peak climbing also can be tried to climb this peak.

Pisang Peak rises above from Pisang village and yak pastures in a uniform slope of ice and snow to the final summit pyramid. Pisang peak is considered the easy climbing peaks among many trekking peaks in Nepal.

The height of this peak is 6091 meters from sea level. Peak climber has to separate a route from Pisang village and then they get to the Pisang Peak base camp from Pisang village, the path ascends through sparse wood and pasture to a Kharka at (4,380m) which is considered the best place for setting up the base camp.

Pisang Peak High Camp is set up at (5,400m) climbing to a shoulder on the South-West Ridge. There will be snow at the high camp from the end of November to the end of March. The well-defined ridge leads to the final snow slope, which is quite steep but not difficult to reach the summit. After you reach to the top of the Peak, back to same way to base camp.
